

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF OHIO
EASTERN DIVISION

BRAD DAVID CLINE,

Plaintiff,

v.

Civil Action 2:21-cv-112
Judge Sarah D. Morrison
Magistrate Judge Chelsey M. Vascura

MATTHEW WIEDIMEN, et al.,

Defendants.

ORDER and REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

Plaintiff, Brad David Cline, an Ohio inmate who is proceeding without the assistance of counsel, brings this civil rights action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, asserting claims against Matthew T. Weidman, the Fayette County Jail Administrator¹; and Darci Moore, who Plaintiff identifies as the “head nurse” at Fayette County Jail (collectively “Defendants”), and alleging that the Fayette County Jail failed to take sufficient precautions to prevent him from being exposed to the COVID-19 virus. This matter is before the Court for the initial screen of Plaintiff’s Complaint under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1915(e)(2) and 1915A to identify cognizable claims and to recommend dismissal of Plaintiff’s Complaint, or any portion of it, which is frivolous, malicious, fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2); see also McGore v. Wrigglesworth, 114 F.3d 601, 608 (6th Cir. 1997). Having performed the initial screen, for the reasons that follow, the undersigned RECOMMENDS that the Court DISMISS this action pursuant to § 1915(e)(2) for failure to state a claim on which relief may be granted.

This matter is also before the Court for consideration of Plaintiff's motion for leave to proceed in forma pauperis under 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(1) and (2), which is GRANTED. (ECF No. 1.) Plaintiff is required to pay the full amount of the Court's $402 filing fee. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1). Plaintiff's certified trust fund statement reveals that he cannot pay the filing fee because he currently possesses no money in his prison account.

Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1), the custodian of Plaintiff's inmate trust accounts at Fayette County Jail is DIRECTED to submit to the Clerk of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Ohio as an initial partial payment, 20% of the greater of either the average monthly deposits to the inmate trust account or the average monthly balance in the inmate trust account, for the six-months immediately preceding the filing of the Complaint.

After full payment of the initial, partial filing fee, the custodian shall submit 20% of the inmate's preceding monthly income credited to the account, but only when the amount in the account exceeds $10.00 until the full fee of $402.00 has been paid to the Clerk of this Court. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2). See McGore v. Wrigglesworth, 114 F.3d 601 (6th Cir. 1997).

Checks should be made payable to: Clerk, United States District Court. The checks should be sent to:

Prisoner Accounts Receivable
260 U.S. Courthouse
85 Marconi Boulevard
Columbus, Ohio 43215

The prisoner's name and this case number must be included on each check.

It is ORDERED that Plaintiff be allowed to prosecute his action without prepayment of fees or costs and that judicial officers who render services in this action shall do so as if the costs had been prepaid. The Clerk of Court is DIRECTED to mail a copy of this Order to Plaintiff and the prison cashier's office. The Clerk is further DIRECTED to forward a copy of this Order to the Court's financial office in Columbus.

I.

Congress enacted 28 U.S.C. § 1915, the federal in forma pauperis statute, seeking to “lower judicial access barriers to the indigent.” Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25, 31 (1992). In doing so, however, “Congress recognized that ‘a litigant whose filing fees and court costs are assumed by the public, unlike a paying litigant, lacks an economic incentive to refrain from filing frivolous, malicious, or repetitive lawsuits.’” Id. at 31 (quoting Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319, 324 (1989)). To address this concern, Congress included subsection (e) as part of the statute, which provides in pertinent part:

(2) Notwithstanding any filing fee, or any portion thereof, that may have been paid, the court shall dismiss the case at any time if the court determines that—

* * *

(B) the action or appeal--

(i) is frivolous or malicious;

(ii) fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted; or

28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2)(B)(i) & (ii); Denton, 504 U.S. at 31. Thus, § 1915(e) requires sua sponte dismissal of an action upon the Court's determination that the action is frivolous or malicious, or upon determination that the action fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. See

Hill v. Lappin, 630 F.3d 468, 470–71 (6th Cir. 2010) (applying Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6) standards to review under 28 U.S.C. §§ 1915A and 1915(e)(2)(B)(ii)).

To survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a plaintiff must satisfy the basic federal pleading requirements set forth in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a). Under Rule 8(a)(2), a complaint must contain a “short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). Although this pleading standard does not require “‘detailed factual allegations,’ . . . [a] pleading that offers ‘labels and conclusions’ or ‘a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action,’” is insufficient. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)). Further, a complaint will not “suffice if it tenders ‘naked assertion[s]’ devoid of ‘further factual enhancement.’” Id. (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 557). Instead, to survive a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, “a complaint must contain sufficient factual matter . . . to ‘state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.’” Id. (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570). Facial plausibility is established “when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Id. In considering whether this facial plausibility standard is met, a Court must construe the complaint in the light most favorable to the non-moving party, accept all factual allegations as true, and make reasonable inferences in favor of the non-moving party. Total Benefits Planning Agency, Inc. v. Anthem Blue Cross & Blue Shield, 552 F.3d 430, 434 (6th Cir. 2008) (citations omitted). The Court is not required, however, to accept as true mere legal conclusions unsupported by factual allegations. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555). In addition, the Court holds pro se complaints “to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers.” Garrett v. Belmont Cnty. Sheriff’s Dep’t, No. 08-3978, 2010 WL 1252923, at *2 (6th Cir. Apr. 1, 2010) (quoting Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519, 520 (1972)).

II.

In its entirety, Plaintiff’s Complaint states as follows:

Mathew Weidiman is not following proper C.D.C. guidelines. Placed jail inmates in over crowded cells. Social distancing is impossible. I was personally placed in a cell with COVID-19 positive people after testing negative on my COVID-19 test. Darci Moore, head nurse is doing nothing to treat COVID-19 except for handing out cough drops in which I never received.

* * *

Would like for involved parties to be reprimanded and dealt with accordingly. I would like to see better treatment for inmates we are people as well.

(Compl. ECF No. 1-1 at PAGEID ## 14-15.) Plaintiff attaches to his complaint three statements signed by himself and what appears to be other inmates. In the first such statement, Plaintiff alleges that on December 31, 2020, Corrections Officer Smith, who has no medical background or training, administered COVID-19 tests at the direction of an unnamed “jail nurse” from the Fayette County Health Department. (See id. at PAGEID # 16.) The second such statement appears to be a log in which Plaintiff documents dates and times over a three-week period in which he or others allege they observed corrections officers without masks or gloves. The third such statement generally alleges that the Fayette County Jail is not “following proper guidelines” relating to COVID-19 testing and quarantining. (See id. at PAGEID # 19.)

III.

The undersigned construes Plaintiff’s Complaint as seeking to advance a conditions-of-confinement claim under the Eight Amendment.

As a threshold matter, although Plaintiff has not designated the capacity in which he is suing Defendants, it appears that he intends to advance official-capacity claims as he names the Fayette County Jail Administrator and the “head nurse,” none of his allegations pertain to specific actions any particular Defendant took, and he does not seek monetary damages from any individual Defendant. See Moore v. City of Harriman, 272 F.3d 769, 775 (6th Cir. 2001) (en banc), cert. denied, 536 U.S. 922 (2002) (holding that “§ 1983 plaintiffs must clearly notify defendants of the potential for individual liability” and “clarify[ing] that reviewing the course of proceedings is the most appropriate way to determine whether such notice has been given”); Thomas v. Noder-Love, 621 F. App’x 825, 831 (6th Cir. 2015) (applying “course of proceedings” test to determine that complaint named the defendant in his official capacity only); United States ex rel Diop v. Wayne Cty. Cmty. College Dist., 242 F.Supp.2d 497, 517 (E.D. Mich. 2003) (“Absent a clear notification that defendants are being sued in their individual capacities, courts must assume that they are being sued in their official capacities, only.”). Regardless of whether Plaintiff intended to advance these claims against Defendants in their official or individual capacities, his claims fail.

A. Official-Capacity Claims

“While ‘[p]ersonal-capacity suits seek to impose personal liability upon a government official for actions he takes under color of state law,’ individuals sued in their official capacities stand in the shoes of the entity they represent.” Alkire v. Irving, 330 F.3d 802, 810 (6th Cir. 2003) (quoting Kentucky v. Graham, 473 U.S. 159, 165 (1985)). Thus, “[a] suit against an individual in his official capacity is the equivalent of a suit against the governmental entity.” Matthews v. Jones, 35 F.3d 1046, 1049 (6th Cir. 1994). Applied here, to the extent Plaintiff intended to sue Defendants in their official capacities, such claims are advanced against Fayette County.

“[A] local government may not be sued under § 1983 for an injury inflicted solely by its employees or agents. Instead, it is when execution of a government’s policy or custom . . . inflicts the injury that the government as an entity is responsible under § 1983.” Monell v. Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 436 U.S. 658, 694 (1978); Nichols v. Wayne Cty. Mich., 822 F. App’x 445, 448 (6th Cir. 2020) (“To state a municipal-liability claim under § 1983, the plaintiff must allege the deprivation (1) of a right secured by the Constitution or laws of the United States, (2) that was directly caused by a municipal policy or custom.” (citing Hardrick v. City of Detroit, 876 F.3d 238, 243 (6th Cir. 2017))). A plaintiff may prove an unconstitutional “policy” or “custom” by demonstrating one of the following: “(1) the existence of an illegal official policy or legislative enactment; (2) that an official with final decision making authority ratified illegal actions; (3) the existence of a policy of inadequate training or supervision; or (4) the existence of a custom of tolerance or acquiescence of federal rights violations.” Burgess v. Fischer, 735 F.3d 462, 478 (6th Cir. 2013) (citing Thomas v. City of Chattanooga, 398 F.3d 426, 429 (6th Cir. 2005)).

Here, Plaintiff’s has not alleged any facts upon which the Court could rely to conclude that an official policy or custom of Fayette County resulted in the violation of his constitutional rights.² Consequently, it is RECOMMENDED that any official capacity claims be DISMISSED pursuant to § 1915(e)(2). See Monell, 436 U.S. at 708; Moore v. CCNO S. Health Partners, No. 3:20-cv-1278, 2020 WL 6729033, at *2 (N.D. Ohio Nov. 16, 2020) (dismissing inmate’s eighth-amendment Monell claim premised upon COVID-19 exposure against municipal defendant because plaintiff failed to identify and attack a policy of municipal defendant).

²In fact, the exhibit Plaintiff attaches to his Complaint (see ECF No. 1-1 at PAGEID # 18) in which he logs particular instances in which he or other inmates observed corrections officers without masks and gloves suggests that procedures have, in fact, been implemented to prevent the spread of the COVID-19 virus, and it appears that the log entries reflect instances in which Plaintiff alleges nonparty corrections officers failed to follow those procedures.

B. Individual-Capacity Claims

Plaintiff has likewise failed to plausibly allege Eighth-Amendment claims against Defendant Weidman and Moore in their individual-capacities.

“The [Eighth] Amendment . . . imposes duties on [prison] officials, who must provide humane conditions of confinement; prison officials must ensure that inmates receive adequate food, clothing, shelter, and medical care, and must take reasonable measures to guarantee the safety of the inmates” Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 932-33 (1994) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). See also Helling v. McKinney, 509 U.S. 25, 33 (1993) (quoting DeShaney v. Winnebago Cty. Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 489 U.S. 189, 200 (1989)) (holding that the Eighth Amendment “requires that inmates be furnished with the basic human needs, one of which is ‘reasonable safety’”).

Such claims under the Eighth Amendment require the plaintiff “to prove both the subjective and objective elements necessary to prove an Eighth Amendment violation.” Helling, 509 U.S. at 35. To satisfy the objective component for a claim based upon a failure to prevent harm, “the inmate must show he is incarcerated under conditions posing a substantial risk of serious harm.” Farmer, 511 U.S. at 834 (citations omitted). “To satisfy the subjective component, an inmate must show that prison officials had a sufficiently culpable state of mind.” Berksire v. Beauvais, 928 F.3d 520, 535 (6th Cir. 2019) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted). The United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit has explained as follows:

“[T]hat state of mind is one of deliberate indifference to inmate health or safety. Although the deliberate indifference standard describes a state of mind more blameworthy than negligence, this standard is satisfied if the official knows of and disregards an excessive risk to inmate health or safety; the official must both be aware of facts from which the inference could be drawn that a substantial risk of serious harm exists, and he must also draw the inference.”

Id. (quoting Brown v. Bargery, 207 F.3d 863, 867 (6th Cir. 2000) (internal quotation marks and citations omitted)).

Here, the objective prong is satisfied as “[t]he COVID-19 virus creates a substantial risk of serious harm leading to pneumonia, respiratory failure, or death.” Wilson v. Williams, 961 F.3d 829, 840 (6th Cir. 2020).

In contrast, Plaintiff has failed to allege facts upon which the Court could rely to conclude the subjective prong is satisfied. In fact, neither the Complaint nor the exhibits to Plaintiff’s Complaint provide content or context from which the Court could reasonably infer that Defendant Weidman was personally involved in any alleged violation of Plaintiff’s rights, which is required to state a § 1983 individual-capacity claim. See Grinter v. Knight, 532 F.3d 567, 575 (6th Cir. 2008) (citation omitted); Everson v. Leis, 556 F.3d 484, 495 (6th Cir. 2009) (to hold a supervisor liable under § 1983, a plaintiff plaintiff “must show that the official at least implicitly authorized, approved, or knowingly acquiesced in the unconstitutional conduct”) (internal quotation omitted). With respect to Defendant Nurse Moore, Plaintiff alleges that she “is doing nothing to treat COVID-19 except for handing out cough drops,” (Compl., ECF No. 1-1 at PAGEID # 14). But this allegation fails to demonstrate that Nurse Moore consciously disregarded a serious risk of harm to Plaintiff.³ See Cameron v. Bouchard, 815 F. App’x 978, 984 (6th Cir. 2020) (“The official must have a subjective ‘state of mind more blameworthy than negligence,’ akin to criminal recklessness.”) (quoting Farmer, 511 U.S. at 835, 938-40). Notably, Plaintiff is not alleging that his placement in a cell with an inmate positive for the COVID-19 virus was done by or at the direction of either Defendant. Nor has he alleged that he contracted COVID-19 and that Defendants are denying him treatment.

³As set forth above, Plaintiff states in an exhibit that an unnamed “jail nurse” directed an untrained corrections officer to administer COVID-19 tests, (Id. at PAGEID # 16). Even if Ms. Moore was the “jail nurse” to whom Plaintiff refers, his allegations still fall short of demonstrating that Ms. Moore consciously disregarded a serious risk of harm to Plaintiff.

Because Plaintiff has failed to plausibly allege that Defendants acted or failed to act with deliberate indifference as required to demonstrate the subjective component of an Eighth-Amendment claim, it is RECOMMENDED that any individual-capacity claim Plaintiff intended to advance be DISMISSED pursuant to § 1915(e)(2).

IV.

For the reasons set forth above, the undersigned RECOMMENDS that the Court DISMISS this action pursuant to § 1915(e)(2) for failure to state a claim on which relief may be granted. In addition, Plaintiff's motion to proceed in forma pauperis is GRANTED.

PROCEDURE ON OBJECTIONS

If any party objects to this Report and Recommendation, that party may, within fourteen (14) days of the date of this Report, file and serve on all parties written objections to those specific proposed findings or recommendations to which objection is made, together with supporting authority for the objection(s). A Judge of this Court shall make a de novo determination of those portions of the Report or specified proposed findings or recommendations to which objection is made. Upon proper objections, a Judge of this Court may accept, reject, or modify, in whole or in part, the findings or recommendations made herein, may receive further evidence or may recommit this matter to the Magistrate Judge with instructions. 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1).

The parties are specifically advised that failure to object to the Report and Recommendation will result in a waiver of the right to have the District Judge review the Report and Recommendation de novo, and also operates as a waiver of the right to appeal the decision of the District Court adopting the Report and Recommendation. See Thomas v. Arn, 474 U.S. 140 (1985); United States v. Walters, 638 F.2d 947 (6th Cir. 1981).

IT IS SO ORDERED.
